ADDITIONAL CONTRIBUTORS:

This Guide to California Public Defender Offices builds on two previous guides created by other California law schools. We thank Golden Gate University School of Law for publishing the first guide to California public defender offices in 2008, and University of California Davis School of Law for updating the guide in 2011.

ABOUT UCLA SCHOOL OF LAW

UCLA School of Law, founded in 1949, is the youngest major law school in the nation and has established a tradition of innovation in its approach to teaching, research, and scholarship. With a rigorous criminal justice curriculum, the school is a preeminent training ground for students committed to careers in public defense.

ABOUT THE OFFICE OF PUBLIC INTEREST PROGRAMS

UCLA School of Law has a proud tradition of public service. Its Office of Public Interest Programs strives to enhance the School of Law’s commitment to public service by offering an array of services to students and alumni. The Office’s principal goal is to encourage students and alumni to embrace a career that incorporates an ongoing commitment to public service.
The state of California has long been a leader in defending the rights of people accused of crimes. California is the home of the nation’s first public defender office. Established in 1914 in the county of Los Angeles, this pioneering office led the way for the eventual expansion of public defender services around the country. In 1921, the California legislature extended the right to appointed counsel to all state courts. In 1963, the United States Supreme Court unanimously held that criminal defendants have a constitutional right to counsel in the landmark case of Gideon v. Wainwright.

The purpose of this Guide to California Public Defender Offices is to provide law students and recent graduates interested in careers in criminal defense in California with contact and other relevant information for every county public defender office and office to which public defender services are contracted in the state. The information contained in this Guide was obtained by the authors through interviews with attorneys and student externs at these public defender offices.
